PRESIDENT MAY ASK THE RATIFICATION OF VERSAILLES TREATY

WITH RESERVATIONS WHICH WOULD ELIMINATE LEAGUE OF NATIONS COVENANT

SECRETARIES HUGHES AND HOOVER APPROVE THIS COURSE. IT IS REPORTED

RAYMOND CLAPPER, (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, April 13—President Harding is watching today for the reaction to the "feeler" put out in his message to congress before deciding to seek ratification of the Versailles treaty minus the league of nations covenant.

Word came today from a well informed quarter that if this reaction is favorable, Harding has in his mind sending the Versailles treaty back to the senate to ask ratification with reservations, and would eliminate the league of nations covenant so far as the United States is concerned, and would otherwise protect American interests along the lines laid down in the Lodge reservations.

President Harding is said to believe that ratification of the Versailles treaty thus modified offers the only way in which the United States can permanently end its peculiar relationship to the allies and central powers. He views the resolution declaring peace with Germany as a more or less temporary expediency.

But whatever is his view, Harding is unlikely to demand action if he sees it is not supported by the senate. If members of the senate show irreconcilable antagonism against the treaty even with the covenant deleted, Harding will abandon further thought of seeking ratification.

The sections of his message which indicated the possibility of ratification of the treaty were results of long and earnest discussions with Secretary Hughes, who has already explained first hand the practical difficulty arising out of failure to join in the pact of Versailles.

Secretary Hughes, who is understood to have the support of Secretary Hoover, opposes complete rejection of the Versailles treaty.

Message Disturbs British

London, April 13—Great Britain was disturbed today by President Harding's recommendations for technical peace with the central powers.

Despite the reassurance of high officials there was a general belief that the message will encourage Germany to evade payment of the reparations.

Definite rejection of the league of nations also caused the belief that America was determined to let Europe settle with Germany as best she may.

French Are Indifferent

Paris, April 13—"We have no reason to rejoice and none for alarm," the Paris Midi said today.

The declaration reflected the French view of President Harding's message to congress.

STEEL TRUST REDUCES PRICES

IN ORDER TO REVIVE TRADE AND HALT THE BUYERS' STRIKE

(By United Press)

New York, April 13—The decline in prices was given impetus today by the announcement of the United States Steel Corporation of a reduction in steel prices, effective April 21.

It was generally expected the steel corporation would soon announce a reduction in wages following the price cut, but there was no confirmation of this, and E. H. Gary, chairman of the corporation, refused to discuss it.

The slash in steel prices was necessary, it was understood, in order to revive trade and halt a buyers' strike.

Best Move to Re-Establish Business

Chicago, April 13—Reduction of steel prices is the best big move toward re-establishment of business on a sound economic basis, Chicago bankers said today.

The commanding importance of the United States Steel Corporation possibly will make its acceptance beneficial as an example to industries, declared E. W. Forgan, president of the National City bank.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE LEGISLATURE

SENATE PASSES BILL TO SUBMIT TONNAGE TAX CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

St. Paul Hay Market

St. Paul, April 13—The state senate today passed the bill providing for submission of a tonnage tax constitutional amendment to the voters at the next general election. The vote was 49 to 13.

The first tie vote of the session resulted from an attempt to eliminate the word "occupational" from the proposed tax measure. The roll call was 31 to 31. The bill now goes back to the house for repassage with the senate amendment.

Preprimary Convention Bill Ready for Governor

The senate today repassed the political conventions bill passed by the house yesterday. It provides for county, district and state political convention for preprimary nomination of candidates for national and state offices.

The bill probably will be signed by the governor soon.

In the house the senate bill providing that the nonpartisan league shall rank as a political party was recommended for passage by the election committee.

Street Car Bill Debated

As debate on the street car control bill progressed in the house today there were indications it would pass. Debate on the Laudendale amendment which would strengthen rights of cities in regaining the street car issue was taken as one indication that the house was not in a position to pass the bill. The Laudendale amendment was defeated 47 to 76.

Friends of the bill claim they had 72 votes lined up, six more than needed for passage. There were admissions however that preliminary skirmishes might cause some to change their minds.

Representative A. C. Welch renewed his charges today that a man named J. A. Smith had approached him and offered a campaign fund for the nonpartisan league if the nonpartisan members would support the street car bill.

The report of the house committee which investigated his previous charges declared they had been unable to locate the mysterious J. A. Smith and that said claims by Rep. Welch were unfounded and that the articles printed in the Minnesota Daily Star were false. It also said no information had been given the committee which would implicate any member of the house in the bribery charges. The committee reported that Rep. Welch be severely censured and rebuked for his conduct, unbefitting to a house member, and the Star be condemned, repudied and censured.

Senate Passes Bill Giving Jury Rights to Women

St. Paul, April 13—The three women's jury bills were passed by the senate yesterday. One gives women equal rights to sit on juries. The second one gives the court the right to excuse women at its discretion. Appointment of women bailiffs to serve where there are women on jury is the object of the third bill.

The second bill concerning the exercise of option was originally drawn so that only women whose presence at home because of household duties could be excused. It was amended so that the court is given the right to determine whether or not a woman should be forced to serve.

Red Wing, April 13—Candidates for mayor, city treasurer and other civic offices were to be nominated at political conventions here today.

While the house ways and means committee was putting the enlarged emergency tariff bill in form for passage tomorrow or Friday, the senate finance committee organized for sales tax and tax reform hearings which Senator Penrose, chairman, said would start soon.

Republican leaders conferring after Harding's message, decided to lump the emergency tariff and anti-dumping bills into one measure and touch it off with an angle of foreign exchange adjustments.

Paul D. Keller, federal prohibition enforcement agent here, said he believed the raid will disclose the heads of a gigantic drug ring operating in the middle west. The raid was made at the request of Chicago police who said a shipment of drugs had been made from Minneapolis to Kansas City.

Weir was not arrested. He said his brother-in-law Wiley Cahoon, had left the trunk with him and did not know what was in it. Authorities are searching for Cahoon.

St. Paul Police Locate Automobile in Mississippi River

(United Press)

St. Paul, April 13—Police today located an automobile in the Mississippi river above the government dam, and were dragging the river in the belief that one or more persons were carried to death when the car crashed over the high embankment into the water. Preparations were made to lift the car from the stream. Pinkerton detectives were on the job with the belief that the car was one in which five bank bandits escaped after robbing the City Bank of St. Paul recently.

Stoker Divorce Suit

(United Press)

New York, April 13—Counsel for the defense in the W. E. D. Stokes divorce suit today invited the dignified court to straddle from an extension roof on the fourth floor of an apartment house to a window ledge and hang their heads down while trying to peer into a window on the third floor apartment.

This, according to the defense, is the posture which a person would have to assume to have done that witness for the plaintiff testified today that observers saw Mrs. Stokes in a thin negligee combing her hair in the apartment of Edgar T. Wallace, co-respondent in the suit. The defense contends it would have been impossible to have seen anyone in that position.

The former kaiser was said to have wept as he declared the final parting would be delayed as long as possible.

Panama Replies to Hughes Note; Is Unsatisfactory

(United Press)

Washington, April 13—The reply of Panama to the last Hughes note on the boundary question between that country and Costa Rica was received at the state department today.

Panama's answer is regarded by this government as "most unsatisfactory," it was learned. The note reiterates Panama's refusal to accept the White award as a basis for settlement of the boundary controversy. This award was upheld by Secretary of State Hughes. The Panama reply is extremely long and goes into the history of the case in an effort to vindicate its position in the boundary question.

MINERS REJECT PREMIER'S PLAN TO HALT STRIKE

WORKERS SCORN GOVERNMENT'S WAGE PROPOSALS WITH ONE EXCEPTION

GOVERNMENT IS MAKING PREPARATIONS TO MEET CRISIS CAUSED BY DISAGREEMENT

London, April 13—The conference of the mine owners, the mine workers and government officials failed to reach a settlement in the miners' strike, the miners refusing to accept the prime minister's proposals for a national settlement of wages without a national pool of profits, which Mr. Lloyd George declared impracticable.

The transport workers and railway men, however, suspended their strike notices, which would have expired at midnight last night. Thus the day, which opened with almost certainly that the transport facilities of the country would be idle today, ended with brighter hopes, despite the fact that the executive of the transport workers in sending out notices of the suspension of the strike asserted: "The situation is still critical."

The only government proposal which the miners would consider was one in which the government offered after the wage question had been settled, to give temporary assistance to mitigate the rapid reduction of wages; the others they brushed aside, at times with heated arguments. The premier met the owners and miners in separate conferences, then jointly.

But none of the arguments of the premier or the miner owners could move the miners; they stuck firmly to their demand for a national pool of profits and a national settlement of wages, declaring through their spokesman Frank Hodges, that "the workmen for the first time are going to have a share of the total prosperity in trade."

Making Preparations to Meet Strike

London, April 13—Facing industrial death Great Britain today made Herculean efforts to meet a general strike called for Friday night by the triple alliance.

Driven by the implacable miners demanding nationalization of industries, transport workers prepared to aid them in stopping all preparations and the circulation of the necessities of life.

Premier Lloyd George, for the first time seriously threatened with defeat, renewed his efforts to avert a disaster and bring about a settlement of the wage dispute.

Booze Cause of Strike

Westerville, Ohio, April 13—"They spent all their money for booze and now are hollering for something to eat."

Wm. (Pussyfoot) Johnson, American prohibition advocate, gave this explanation today as the cause of the general strike in England.

"The drink question is back of it," he said. "With a few exceptions leaders of British labor are dry while spots in the rank and file are wet and beyond control of their officers."

Johnson is going to sail from New York Saturday on the first leg of his eight months' world tour. He will again visit England.

Unlettered Presidents.
At least one of our Presidents, possibly two, never went to any kind of a school. The father of Andrew Johnson died when the lad was five years old, and his mother could not spare the money to educate him. This condition of poverty caused Andrew to be apprenticed to a tailor. He worked long hours and hard. One day a man brought a book to the shop and recited many selections that it contained. Andrew's ambition was stirred.
With the man's help he learned the alphabet. But he made no real progress until his marriage. His wife read to him as he plied the needle. She helped him to learn to read and write.
She was his school. Largely through her careful, patient instruction he was enabled to become the mayor of the town in which they lived.

Credit Given to Shakespeare.
Although wages might have associated the word benedict, meaning a married man, as being cognate with benediction, usually thought of as coming at the end; and Latin students, not conversant with Shakespeare, might have reasoned that as a matter of fact it comes from "bene" (well) and "dicere" (to speak), authorities on such subjects attribute the coinage of the word from the bard's character of Ben-

Quite a Job To Take Mme. Curie's
Radium To FranceBY HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paris, April 13—Just how Madame Curie is going to bring back to France the gramme of radium that American women will present to her and to the French Faculty of Sciences presents a ticklish little problem.

If Madame Curie, for example, merely put the gramme of radium in her pocket for the return trip, several things might happen. First, she might lose it. Secondly, some international but unscientific pickpocket might be tempted by the fact that it is worth about two million francs.
Thirdly and worst of all, if Madame Curie were to bring the gramme of radium home in her pocket, the things that would happen to her would mean a greater loss to the scientific world than as though some clever thief pinched the gramme.

While Madame Curie probably wouldn't die on the spot, nevertheless the radio-activity of radium is so great and its effect upon the tissues so startling that were Madame Curie to show her appreciation of America's gift by never parting with the precious gramme certain death would ensue.

The burning and destruction of the tissues that come from exposure to radium do not manifest themselves at once. The action of the radium is not on the skin itself, but on the tissues underneath. The sores engendered by exposure to radium begin to show themselves some two weeks afterwards.

However, Madame Curie is entirely too wise to the eccentricities of radium to allow herself to be trapped into any too close familiarity or even to endanger the sub epidermis of other passengers on the boat who will accompany her and the gramme back from New York.

In fact it has already been decided that the mischievous little gramme of radium will be split up into twelve or fifteen smaller and less mischievous parts.

Each one of these parts will be enclosed in a glass bulb and each bulb enclosed in a nice little lead case of about two inches in thickness—lead and platinum being nonconductors of radio-activity.

The twelve or fifteen little lead cases will then be stowed away in the ship's safe and if any enterprising thief wants to monkey with the combination in order to get his fingers on that two million francs worth of radium—why Madame Curie says he will just have to take all the risks himself, both legally and scientifically.

And she has a very firm conviction that the scientific radio-activity effects on the thief will render it quite unnecessary for the law to intervene in the case.

Inventor of the Zeppelin.
Count Ferdinand von Zeppelin, German inventor, one of the foremost aeronauts of the world at the beginning of the Twentieth century, died in 1917.
While many of the expectations of the Zeppelin were realized, it was apparent late in 1916 that the smaller, fleet-er aircraft of the monoplane and bi-plane type were better adapted to almost all kinds of warfare, and the aged inventor died in the knowledge that successful conquest with his invention was impossible.

LECTURE GIVEN ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Willis F. Gross, C. S. B., Member of Board of Lectureship of Mother Church, Boston

LARGE AUDIENCE IS PRESENT

Speaker Explains Christian Science, Characterized as Unity of Religion and Medicine

A lecture on Christian Science entitled "Christian Science: The Unity of Religion and Medicine" was given by Willis F. Gross, C. S. B., Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., at Iron Exchange hall on Tuesday evening and before a large audience the lecturer said in part:

No teaching of modern times has inspired greater activity in the things which really benefit humanity than has Christian Science. Nothing as contributed more to the universal good than has that Christian scientific method of healing, which furnishes conclusive evidence that religion and medicine are from the same source and cannot be separated, either in theory or practice. Christian Science has encountered opposition because for centuries it has been held that religion and medicine have little in common. This is true of medicine and religion as generally defined and practiced, but no human theory or belief can change the eternal fact that the most effectual healing system ever brought to human recognition as Christianity as taught and demonstrated by its Founder, Jesus of Nazareth, are one and identical.

The healing of sickness by spiritual means alone continued throughout the first three centuries of the Christian era. So long as it was considered an essential part of religious teaching and practice and not merely incidental thereto, and intended only for a short period of time or a limited number of persons, the Christian method of healing was the only one recognized in the Christian church.

Christian Science demonstrates the unity of religion and medicine. In so doing it has enlarged the borders of Christian activity and restored the teaching and practice of primitive Christianity, which included the healing of sickness as well as the overcoming of sin.

That Christian Science is in advance of and departs from the trend of other religious doctrines, is apparent to every one who has given the matter any serious consideration. The question naturally arises, Where, or how, did Christian Science originate? What was its starting point? What was it that gave to Christianity this new impetus, demonstrating the divine energies of good?

In the same manner as other great truths were discovered and rendered practical, Christian Science was brought to human recognition. There was one who stood on higher ground; one whose spiritual perception was able to penetrate the mists which obscured the vision of others, who reasoned more correctly, and was more faithful in making a practical application of what had already been revealed. In this instance the world's benefactor was a woman, and future generations will regard her as among the foremost thinkers of her day.

This woman, Mary Baker Eddy, will be known throughout the centuries as the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, for she was. No religious teacher of modern times reasoned along the same lines as she did, neither has there been anyone who arrived at the same definite conclusions she has so clearly set forth in her writings.

There is great need that men be rightly instructed in spiritual things. The work of Christian Science is educational, and as such it is both Christian and scientific. It imparts a higher and more spiritual thought of God and man, and furnishes the rule whereby to demonstrate the allness of good and the nothingness of evil. As one gains a higher thought of God he gains also a truer concept of man. Then he begins to understand that the evils which seem to be a constituent part of human existence are no part of God's creation and have nothing to do with man made in the likeness of Spirit, therefore he need not fear them nor be in subjection to them.

Christian believers in all ages have said that Jesus' works established the truth of his doctrine. Here is suggested an important question, do his followers realize the vital connection between his teachings and his works? If so, why are not the works being done today as in the early centuries of the Christian era? Why do men seem to have so little faith in God's willingness to heal? Is it not because they have been taught to believe there is one remedy for sin and another remedy for sickness?

Jesus of Nazareth was the world's greatest religious teacher, and he was also the most successful healer of disease. He healed sickness as he healed sin, proving that both evils require the same spiritual remedy. Today it is being demonstrated that the remedy for sin is the effectual remedy for sickness, and this is the evidence that Christian Science has given the correct interpretation of the Master's teachings.

Jesus said, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." This is the message of Christian Science: There is rest for the weary, comfort for the sorrowing, healing for the sick, hope for those in despair, and joy and freedom for those in bondage to sin. "It is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom."

LOOKING THROUGH THE OLD FILES

Brainerd Dramatic Club in June 1881
Was Rehearsing a Patriotic Drama in Three Acts

C. D. JOHNSON AS "HIRAM JINKS"

Little Falls Dramatic Company Gave
"Among the Breakers" at Bly's
Hall, June 24

Brainerd in its early days was blessed with just as much dramatic talent as it enjoys in present times. The Brainerd Tribune of June 13, 1881 as published by A. E. Chase, editor and proprietor, records the rehearsals of the Brainerd Dramatic Company.

The company was billed to give its play at Gull River July 2 and at Bly's hall July 4, "thus celebrating the glorious Fourth by presenting the great patriotic drama in three acts entitled, 'Enlisted for the War, or the Home Guard', with a cast which included T. R. Congdon, I. W. Adams, C. H. Congdon, C. D. Johnson as Hiram Jinks, 'a mere boy'; C. T. White, C. V. Wadham, Charles Pegg, Miss Jennie King, Miss Mattie Anderson, Miss Josephine Davis. To give full measure I. W. Adams will render some selections from Widow Bedott. The whole concludes with the absurdity of 'Box and Cox, or Bouncer's Boarder'."

Brainerd did not have all the histrionic talent by any means, for the Little Falls dramatic company invaded Brainerd and on June 24, 1881 was billed to present "Among the Breakers" at Bly's hall, to be given under the auspices and for the benefit of the Little Falls Excelsior Corner Band.

"The Little Falls band consisting of some twenty pieces, will parade the streets, discoursing beautiful music, which alone is worth coming out to hear."

The advertisements make interesting reading. The Headquarters Hotel, with E. W. Weed proprietor, advertised that all trains arrived and departed from their door and rates were $2, $2.50 and $3 per day.

The Leland house gave first class fare, good airy rooms and clean beds at second class prices, terms $1.50 to $2 per day or $5 a week to regular boarders.

At the Marshall house board was $1 per day or $4.50 per week. The Nicoll was conducted by H. E. Leland.

Mention is made of 500 Cincinnati men experimenting with electricity, with a special view of utilizing it as a light.

J. M. Hannaford was General Freight Agent in those days. Herman Haupt was General Manager. A.

E. Law was Trainmaster at St. Paul. Gents celluloid collars and cuffs were sold by Wm. Schwartz.

The Grandmeyer Millinery carried a large advertisement.

The W. A. S. & C. boomed the sale of Cyrus paper collars.

Miss Mattie Caley's restaurant had ice cream and fresh strawberries.

"The seats of the M. E. church have been made more comfortable. It is expected there will be no repetition of injury to apparel."

There wasn't enough brick or lumber in town to meet the building demand.

The Congregational church was to be rebuilt and bids were asked.

The March 25, 1878 issue of the Brainerd Tribune with Hartley Brothers as publishers, had an extended front page article on Brainerd written by the editor of the Lake City Sentinel. "Brainerd's attractive residences and business houses, nearly painted white, are couched beneath and almost surrounded by the evergreen, towering jack pines, and to our notion the place presents one of the grandest panoramas of variety and beauty to be found on the line of the Northern Pacific. The population of about 1,000, represents nearly all nations, but the majority seem to be Americans from way down east. They are alive to their interests, at the same time they spare no pains to entertain strangers who may come that way."

Brainerd's financial statement published showed liabilities of $19,621.77. Liabilities over assets was $4,975.70.

The Band of Hope presented "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" at Bly's opera house.

A. K. P. Knowles raised some six foot tobacco stalks with leaves three feet long. He brought in a well made cigar for the editors, Hartley Brothers. It is not recorded if the firm smoked up.

Maple Sugar Reserve

(United Press)

Washington, April 12.—A lake of maple syrup—148,000,000 gallons of it—enough to float thousands of grid-dle cakes, was stored up from last year in the warehouse of maple product makers and dealers when the Bureau of Crop Estimates made a survey this spring.

The report also supplied rocks for the maple sugar lake in the form of 318,600 pounds of maple sugar. Altogether there was the equivalent of 1,500,000 pounds of the sugar stored away and yet his was only four per cent of the 1920 production.

Had not another shortage of granulated sugar been feared, it is not likely that this much would have been carried over, the Department of Agriculture says. With reports from the maple forests promising a banner year for the production of the better half of "hot cakes," those places where the man tosses 'em around on his griddle in the front window ought to show increased business next fall at cheaper prices.

Serbian Melodies Solemn.

The Serbian melodies are solemn and impressive, and have a strong affinity with their church music. The Hungarian songs, on the other hand, show vitality and impetuosity to an extraordinary degree. They are mostly in two-four time, but both the rhythms and the time change continually, and the music is full of pauses at effective moments and of modulations into unexpected keys, which correspond to constant changes in the sentiment of the songs, from deep sorrow to wild hilarity of satire. The "Hungarian Melodies," by Francis Korbay, contain very fine examples of such music, and the accompaniments of the songs in this collection are beautifully and thoroughly adapted to the melodies.

LEAVE THE BOARD OF CONTROL ALONE

The Minnesota League of Women Voters is opposed to the bill proposing to change the membership of the Board of Control from three to four members and state their reason in the following terms:

A bill before the legislature fraught with dangerous consequences to the administration of the seventeen state institutions provides that the State Board of Control shall be enlarged from three to four members, one of whom shall be a woman and the governor given a voice in the board's deliberations with a vote in case of a tie.

This bill violates three principles of public administration which have made our board unique in the country because of its efficiency and freedom from politics. It proposes first to confuse appointive and administrative power by allowing the governor, who appoints the board, to take part in its deliberations. Such a policy is unsound and results disastrously wherever tried. Secondly, the bill enlarges the board to four members with a fifth member, the governor, who although the most powerful member is not in a position by reason of the demands made upon his time to take part in its regular meetings or acquaint himself with the facts in any given case.

No reason has been offered why the board should be enlarged. Its present size makes for efficiency and the modern tendency is toward small administrative boards. It never has suggested before that there should be a member of such a board with decisive voting power who was not devoting his full time to matters coming before him for decision.

Finally, for years the Board of Control with its broad powers over its defenseless wards, has been free from politics. With a biennial budget of upward towards ten millions of dollars and a small army of employees it is known in the nation for its efficient administration. The governor is a political officer, elected every two years by the people. In the very nature of thinking he is not immune from political influences. A strong governor as a member of the Board of Control might resist them but a weak one would not be able to do so. The determination of questions of policy involving helpless and dependent people as well as those of criminal tendencies must be free of any but the highest influences.

The bill passed the senate without a public hearing. In the House a public hearing was had and no voice was raised in its behalf while a storm of opposition was voiced by the people who filled the House chamber. No argument has anywhere been put forth in behalf of this change except that the governor promised to appoint a woman to the Board of Control.

The term of one member of the board expires in a few days. This man is highly regarded by many people who object to his being displaced by a woman. In order that nobody might be offended this change is proposed which the public has not asked for, does not want and which may mean disaster for the most important board in the state. The women have faced the issue. They wanted a woman on the board but rather than pay this price they have publicly announced their willingness to forego their hopes in this regard and release the governor from his promise to appoint a woman. In spite of the attitude of the women the bill is put forth as one in their interest and is being pressed for passage. The League of Women Voters asks all citizens who are interested in the welfare of the state's corrective and penal institutions to make known their disapproval of this bill to their legislators. The bill is likely to be acted upon Thursday or Friday of this week.

SAYS ACID STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION

Excess of Hydrochloric Acid Sour the Food and Forms Gases

Undigested food cloyed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments, the same a food left in the open air says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sour in the stomach much like garbage sour in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy lump in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or hay, heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescent and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mucus, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with thia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

American Association Race Looks Like a Close Fight

BY DICK MEADE,
(Sport Editor Toledo News-Bee)
(Written for The United Press)

Toledo, Ohio, April 13.—No club in the American Association came up from the south a favorite for the championship honors. Unless there are radical changes made in the early season there will not be a first choice in the group.

Naturally one looks for St. Paul, the runaway champion of 1920, to occupy a lofty niche in the race, but in spite of the fact that Manager Mike Kelly will receive player help in part payment for some of the stars he sent up last fall, it is unlikely he will be able to replace Catcher Bubbles Hargrave, Third Baseman Goldie Rapp and Pitcher Combe.

Yet in spite of the loss of three such valuable players, the Saints have a formidable lineup and are bound to hold around the top, through the summer campaign.

Louisville, which beat out Toledo for second place by a half game on the final day of last season, is practically the same aggregation that started so poorly and ended so ably last year. The loss of Shortstop Wortman, who jumped to independent baseball with the Fairbanks Moose club of Beloit, Wis., is bound to injure the Colonels' defense. Wortman is a weak hitter but a wonderful ball bawler.

Roger Bresnahan, president of the Toledo club, and Manager Clymer say he had been fifty per cent stronger than in 1920 when they gave St. Paul a bitter fight for two months.

The addition of Fred Luderus, former Phil for first base, will help the infield. Dyer at second, Derrick at short and Bauman at third will give a rainy group of inner workers. Toledo had one of the best outfields in the association last year, but it will be better this year with Jim Thorpe, Viceland and Hill, a young phenom who hit .269 in 29 games last fall.

Indianapolis is banking a great deal on its infield of Covington, Sicking, Schreiber and Baird to keep it up in the race. Manager Hendricks has a good twirling force, but his outfield does not shape up particularly strong.

The second division teams, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Columbus and Kansas City are supposed to be greatly improved and may be able to break into the select circle.

Minneapolis is talking success on a quartet of pitchers—James, Lowdermilk, Robertson and Schauer.

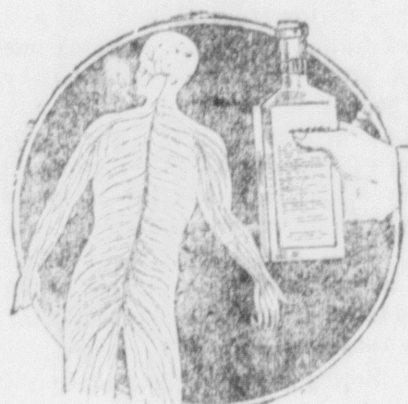

Milwaukee was handicapped last year by accidents, the most harmful being the broken leg suffered by Del Joiner, first baseman. Del is to play the outfield this year and first is to be play by big Hauser, who wallowed around in the right garden last season.

Clarence Rowland has made a number of changes in the Columbus Senators, but it is difficult to make a prediction about the club. The same is true of Kansas City's tail-enders of 1920, which look stronger at the start than last year. The return of Cochrane to third base will steady the infield. Beals Becker, the hard hitting fly chaser who has been suspended for playing independent ball last summer, would have made a big difference in the club.

Right now the association looks like a mighty well balanced league. All clubs had good training weather in the south and are in good condition for the early part of the race.

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN IN PROGRAM

Washington-Lincoln Parent-Teachers Organizations Met at the High School Assembly Room

PROMINENT SPEAKERS HEARD

George D. LaBar Explains to Taxpayers Some of the Financial Problems of School Board

The program offered by the Washington-Lincoln parent-teachers organizations Tuesday evening at the high school assembly room was one which was of intense interest to all present and every speaker and other participant gave a message of vital concern to the community.

The program committee for this session included Mrs. John A. Hoffbauer, Mrs. Frank Russell and Mrs. Charles Peterson. The presiding officer was Mrs. Ben Armstrong, who showed rare tact and skill in conducting the meeting.

Financial Problems of Brainerd Schools

George D. LaBar, member of the school board from the second ward, in referring to the subject assigned him, "Problems of Brainerd Schools," said it was too large for a short talk and he had condensed it to "Financial Problems of Brainerd Schools."

Brainerd schools were in a peculiarly and unfortunately situated. The large railway properties in the city paid their gross earnings taxes to the state and very little, if any, came back to Brainerd. There was not enough taxable property in the school district to make as good a showing as in towns of similar size to Brainerd.

School buildings and equipment was deteriorating and there was a growing demand for a new high school building. Such improvements would cost from $500,000 to $400,000.

Mr. LaBar related the efforts made by the school board to get state aid and favorable legislation. Prof. Cobb and Mr. LaBar in company with representatives from railway towns like Proctor, Two Harbors, Staples, Dillworth, etc., appeared before the legislature and made a plea for 26 per cent of the gross earnings tax for school purposes. The bill so drafted by the representatives from the towns made was considered by the finance committee of the legislature, and little encouragement was given by the committee. Their idea seemed to be unfavorable toward cutting into the state's gross earnings tax. It was suggested that if Brainerd's needs were so imperative something might be given out of the general appropriation bill. They prepared a bill of their own that when 40 per cent of property in a town was railway property, then state aid would be extended. On examination it was found the terms of such bill excluded Brainerd. It was amended, and the last heard was that it stood little chance of being reported out.

"It has been hard to do anything with the legislature," said Mr. LaBar in conclusion, "and we must rely upon ourselves and our own tax levy." He called attention to the fact that the Brainerd district might lose state aid for its commercial, domestic science and manual training departments. His thorough, frank discussion of Brainerd's situation left no doubt in the minds of his hearers that Brainerd's school district faces a heavy building problem and financial situation.

"Fundamentals of Business Training"

H. F. Michael of the H. F. Michael Company spoke on the "Fundamentals of Business Training". Absolute honesty was the first essential. There was the honesty of the employee who gave full time services in a day's work and did no "slopping". There was next the ability and willingness to work.

Good health was a requisite asset. Hard work and energy and the ability to apply one's best energies to the matter in hand all contributed to bring success and many times the plodder of only average ability succeeded in life while the brilliant, superficial worker fell by the wayside. One other point was emphasized and that was adaptability. Parents should see that the son or daughter was given the life work which would bring out the best talents.

M. B. Scherich

M. B. Scherich, high school principal, was given the floor by Mrs. Ben Armstrong and he explained the problems confronting the high school in regard to some students he charged were frequenting pool rooms, using cigarettes, shaking dice, etc. He had taken the matter up at the meeting of the Harrison parent-teachers association and would bring it before every association of parent-teachers. The schools have a list of high school students and each pool room can be supplied with a list so that any pool room proprietor will quickly see if a high school boy is frequenting his place.

Mr. Scherich promised to make a complaint and sign same providing any one backed him up with the necessary evidence to sustain the complaint.

Recitation and Piano Solo

Little Helen Paine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Paine, gave a fine recitation and received much applause.

Gunhild Nelson, a pupil of William F. Palmer, gave a piano selection which was very well rendered.

Mrs. Clarence Smiley

Mrs. Clarence Smiley, teacher of the West Brainerd school, told of how their parent-teachers organization had developed into a community club. They had first been asked to join the Washington-Lincoln parent-teachers association and then decided to establish one of their own. First they met in the afternoons and later the men said they would attend if meetings were held in the evenings. Their preparations for a Christmas tree entertainment welded the whole community and brought out help from all sides. Every child of school age received a present and even the little ones at home were not neglected.

Recently men were placed in charge of entertainment programs and there was a scramble to serve on them. In fact committees had been named ahead of the programs. The West Brainerd school club was the first in the city to be supplied with its complement of six dozen cups, six dozen nickel plated spoons and six dozen plates.

A movement was now under way to beautify the school grounds and the whole community in West Brainerd had been regarded as a mere "dumping ground" for the rest of Brainerd and the people will now quickly resent any indiscriminate dumping over there. The city had 40 acres for a dumping ground, but in the past it seemed people dumped refuse in every place except the marked ground.

One of the worst infractions on dumping occurred at the school grounds. The whole community is aroused and when the offender is caught he will feel the full force of the law.

Petitions are now being circulated to get city water into West Brainerd. Councils in the past have refused to take action in regard to such requests. City water can be conducted to West Brainerd for the Northern Pacific hospital, also located across the river, gets its supply of water.

Most of the children attending "Riverside school" in West Brainerd live north of the tracks and fast trains pass about the time of dismissal. For absolute safety there should be gates at the crossing to protect the small children.

Mrs. Smiley told how they acquired an old organ, used it in school and had now raised $20 for a first payment on a piano.

There was need of a branch library in West Brainerd. Mrs. Smiley's talk showed how the community is assisting itself and her recital of conditions and improvements was greeted with hearty applause.

Brainerd Library Benefit

Mrs. Ben Armstrong called attention to the Brainerd Library benefit at the New Park theatre and said that funds were expected from this which would enable a branch library to be established in West Brainerd and other sections and which money would also build up book supplies in the Brainerd library.

On Care of Teeth

Dr. A. K. Cohen gave a fine talk on care of the teeth and took up teeth of children from 6 to 16 years of age. The baby teeth were explained. He showed how proper food assisted in conserving teeth.

He pleaded for the use of the tooth brush and proper dentifrice. "Get into the habit of brushing your teeth and you will do so just as regularly as you eat three meals a day," said the doctor.

Food was an important consideration in teeth preservation. Children should have plenty of hard, crusty food to expand the jaw. If the teeth of the child are properly taken care of, then the adult is assured of good set. No child can have good teeth if constantly fed pre-digested food. Foreign children, eating coarser bread, always had good, clean teeth. Mastication of hard foods meant an increased flow of saliva and this in turn through chemical properties assisted to combat any acids forming which might decay teeth.

He showed the proper manipulation of a tooth brush, brushing downward for the upper teeth and upward with the lower set. Using toothpicks was a bad habit. Silk floss should be used. In conclusion he summed up that good teeth contributed to cheerfulness. No person with aching teeth can study properly or remain cheerful.

Value of Milk as a Food

E. G. Roth, county agricultural agent, gave a short, pungent talk on "The Value of Milk as a Food". A quart of milk is equal in food value to 11 ounces of sirloin steak, 10 ounces of round steak, or eight and a half eggs. People, especially growing children, should drink a quart a day. Even at 14c or 15c per quart, milk was cheap when its food value was taken in consideration.

Milk is a balanced ration in itself, for it is really food, and should be more universally used. Mr. Roth pleaded for pure milk and showed the evils following the use of impure milk. The latter was often a cause of scarlet fever, tuberculosis, etc.

A method to eliminate disease carriers was by pasteurization of the milk. Some dairymen now have certified dairies and their dairies, men and cattle are regularly inspected. Cleanliness and healthfulness should be insisted on in all milk. There should be very little sediment in a milk bottle, for much of it signifies impurities.

He referred to Brainerd's new milk ordinance which had received its first reading in the city council. The sanitary regulations include proper care of stables, clean pails, tuberculin tested cattle, cooled milk, etc.

Adj. H. H. Kline

Adjutant H. H. Kline of the Salvation Army had been called to Pequot Tuesday afternoon and so was unable to be present to deliver his talk on "The Necessity of Cooperation Between Home and School".

Roland Jenkins, on the program for a vocal solo, was also unable to be present.

Mrs. Ben Armstrong, presiding, thanked all for taking part in the program and voiced the appreciation of the club.

SENIOR CLASS MEMORIAL COMING

PENMANSHIP CLASS HONORED

High Schol Boys Interviewed by Superintendent With Reference to Frequenting Pool Rooms
(By W. C. Cobb, Superintendent of City Schools)

The state examinations just held in grade subjects were unusually satisfactory in the general nature of the examination questions and in the success with which the upper grade pupils passed them. A very much larger percent of pupils passed the March examination in geography, grammar, and arithmetic than has been the case in other years; about four times as many papers in grammar and arithmetic were sent down this year as was sent down to the State last year, and about three times as many papers in geography were sent this year as compared with last year. In history, the number of papers sent were about the same this year as last.

The pupils in the mixed grade, taught by Mrs. Fleming, nearly all cleared up their grade subject and are now full fledged high school pupils so far as real standing is concerned. They will be able to give their whole time to their high school subjects and many of them will practically complete their freshman year this year. A larger number of 1921 papers in arithmetic are being sent down from Miss Sunwall and Mrs. Fleming's rooms than have been sent in this subject in many years.

Many of the pupils in the advanced eighth grade at the Washington building will be able to receive some high school credits by the end of the year.

The Senior class are eagerly awaiting the arrival of their class memorial, two elaborate pieces of statuary, one a Caproni cast of Joan of Arc and the other a typical American subject, a mounted Indian warrior. It is expected that these memorials will be on hand for a suitable Class Day program.

Two of the rooms at the Lincoln school taught by Miss Peterson and Miss Evje, have sent in penmanship exercises to the Palmer people and secured a considerable number of Palmer buttons as a recognition of creditable work in muscular writing. Rooms in other buildings are planning to send in papers in the near future.

On Monday morning of this week all of the boys of the high school were gathered together and were interviewed by the superintendent and principal with reference to the frequenting of pool-rooms by high school students. The state law on the subject was discussed in detail and an effort was made to find out whether in the case of the one hundred boys attending the high school a large percent or a small per cent were frequenters of these places. From the information gathered at this meeting it seemed to be the opinion that the percentage of high school boys frequenting pool-rooms was not large although any number would be larger than it ought to be in the matter of violating a state law.

Many of the city and village schools of the state have become aroused during the past week over the action of the State legislature with reference to the State aid for industrial subjects in the high school commercial, manual training, home economics, and agriculture. By a large majority, the House last week passed an educational appropriation bill, leaving out the customary appropriations for these special departments. Most of the cities feel necessary economy. Undoubtedly protests will be forwarded from the cities and villages all over Minnesota in an effort to induce the Senate to insist on the restoration of the appropriations for these special departments. Most of the cities feel that these departments, or some of them, are the most valuable educational asset they have in their local high schools and have spent large sums of money in providing for their equipment. It would be a real educational misfortune, if Minnesota should take any backward steps in industrial education because of the attitude of the House of Representatives in dealing with this question. Brainerd promptly voiced its protest by letter and telegram from its Board of Education and from some of its Women's Civic organizations. There is considerable doubt as to whether the Educational Bill that has been in preparation by a committee of experts for two years will be passed. This measure would have been of material benefit to cities such as Brainerd in that it favored cities of large school enrollment and relatively small total assessed valuation by providing for a part payment by the state when taxation for school purposes became greater than 20 mills. The special aid from the state was graduated so as to give an increased amount where the rate was from 20 to 30 mills, a still larger amount where it was from 30 to 40 mills, and beyond 40 mills the state was to contribute one half of the annual school levy, under certain limitations. It would be an educational misfortune, if this measure fails to receive the sanction of the present legislature.

As the spring approaches, the playground apparatus furnished by the Park Board will likely be replaced on the several school grounds. In some quarters of the town, considerable annoyance has been experienced in the past because of the interference with this public property, intended for recreation purposes, by a rough element interfering with the apparatus or injuring it during the night time. The various Parent-Teachers' associations and any other civic organizations in a ward should earnestly cooperate to break up these acts of vandalism and make the playground a place of healthful recreation instead of a public nuisance.

Since the high school basketball season closed, the grade boys from all of the ward schools have been meeting in inter-school contests in the high school gymnasium with no less interest and enthusiasm than that displayed by the high school boys during their basketball season.

Since athletic sports are just as desirable and necessary for grade children as for high school pupils, it is unfortunate that the grade buildings do not afford a suitable room for his purpose as well as a general congregating place for a community center.

Where Great Men Talk

I think I can see the precise and distinguishing marks of national character more in these nonsensical minutes than in the most important matters of state, where great men of all nations talk, and talk so much alike, that I would not give silence to choose among them.—Sterne.

Self-Denial May Be Overdone.

There are honest souls who would not willingly rob a neighbor, yet who continually rob themselves of the comfort and joy that rightfully belong to them. Self-denial is not a virtue in itself, and it may become as bad for the soul as starvation is for the body.

Hawaiian Volcano Active.

The great volcano, Kilauea, 32 miles from Hilo, Hawaii, which for two years has been exhibiting tremendous volcanic force, recently overflowed the rim of its active throat and burst forth in fresh activity and brilliance. After weeks of steady rising of the lava in the pit of Halemaumau, the "House of Fire," the molten column reached the rim and poured over it toward the southeast side of the great crater, while simultaneously another lava stream burst through the crater floor some distance from the first. Hundreds of fire fountains began playing on the numerous lava lakes and sheets of flame gushed intermittently from beneath the crust surface. Along the main line of the old rift which the new flow is following, several lava cones of small craters have formed and these add to the weird scenes with their thundering blasts of steam and fire.

A Realist.

"Did you ever see that good old play, 'Ten Nights in a Barroom'?" "No," answered Cactus Joe. "I didn't like the title. It wasn't true to human nature. I never knew a man with money enough to last ten nights and I never heard of a bartender who would let him hang around after he was broke."

COMENIUS: A PICTURE TEACHING PIONEER

The United States commissioner of education has asked that the birthday of John Amos Comenius be observed in American public schools on March 28, in conjunction with its commemoration in Czechoslovakia. The National Geographic society has issued the following bulletin concerning the famous Moravian educator, author of the first picture textbook and the first advocate of teaching science in the schools:

"The births of new nations usually mean the creation of new national heroes. Among the new countries of Europe not only the men who played parts in their liberation be honored in years to come; but the new nationalities already are planning to pay belated tribute to the outstanding figures of the period of their oppression.

"Take Czechoslovakia, a country which holds a particular interest for Americans, since its declaration of independence was written in a Washington, D. C., hotel, and condensed so it might be printed in full in a Boston newspaper, and its constitution embodies many features of our form of government.

"It may augur well for the future peace of Europe that Czechoslovakia has chosen to commemorate as one of its major holidays the birthday, not of a warrior, or even a political leader, but of a school teacher.

"In reading about him there also will be much about pansophic schools, and the intuitive method, and naturalistic conceptions of education. But if you would get a more vivid picture of the pioneer service of this forerunner of Rousseau, Froebel, Pestalozzi, and Montessori, try to imagine your school today as a place where:

"Pupils devoted nearly all their time to memorizing page after page of dreary texts.

"All teaching had to be done through a foreign language (Latin).

"No objects were studied and only abstract words were used.

"Little was studied which related to the physical world, the child's environment, or his daily experience.

"Nor was there any teaching of science, even geography, nature study, animal and bird life.

"None of the world's best teaching largely with things the pupils never saw, were illustrated with pictures.

"And a kindergarten, physical exercise, play periods, attention to hygiene were virtually unknown.

"If you can imagine that kind of school you will gain some conception of the schools in the time of Comenius, which he tried to improve in nearly all of the particulars mentioned.

"Most widely known, perhaps, of Comenius' books is the 'Orbis Pictus,' thought by some to have been the first children's picture book, and certainly the first application of pictures for school teaching of visual instruction.

ORIGIN OF "APRIL FOOL"

Even in these times of turmoil and contention, there is still one day when not only may a man play a fool, but his friends are privileged to give him a headlong push down "fools' hill."

The origin of the custom of playing practical jokes on friends and neighbors on this "All Fools' Day" is variously explained. Some of these explanations may interest those who have eaten cotton pie at dinn chocolates.

Some writers trace the custom back to the days of the miracle plays given at Easter time. One of the most popular tableaux satirized Ananias, Caiaphas, Pilate and Herod. In the decadent days of these dramas actors played largely for the amusement and applause of the groundlings, until Herod, in out-heroding himself, and Pilate, in the performance of his abductions, literally made fools of themselves.

A "Feast of Fools" was held in the early spring by the Romans, and the Hindus, since time immemorial, have celebrated as a saturnalia the vernal equinox, or Feast of Holi. During these festivities the chief amusement seems to have been that of fooling people and sending them on fruitless errands.

Many students trace the origin back no farther than France in the sixteenth century. At any rate, the custom seems to have radiated from France to England, as well as to Germany. If we are to believe what Grimm says about it, France was the first nation to adopt the reformed calendar which decreed that the year should begin on the first of January. Consequently those who objected to sending out their New Year's gifts and felicitations upon the newly chosen date instead of April 1, as they had done previously, subjected themselves to endless taunts for being old fogies by going on visits that had no meaning. The French call the victim of a prank on April 1, "un poisson d'avril," or "an April fish," of which our American slang, "you poor fish," is good translation. The origin of the expression used in this connection probably arose in the obvious comparison between the person who "bites" unwittingly and the April fish, which is a young fish and therefore easily caught.

In Scotland April Fool's day is observed, but under a slightly different name—the day for "hunting the gowk," or cuckoo. Some few of us who, in our unsophisticated days, have gone "snipe hunting" in this country, know how the fellow feels who hunts the gowk, and realize that to be called an "April-Cuckoo" is not a compliment, that bird being a byword of contempt in almost every land.

RIO DE JANEIRO: CITY OF LURE

Rio de Janeiro, first of the three South America capitals to be visited by Secretary Colby on his recent journey of courtesy to our neighboring continent, is described as follows in a communication from Harriet Chalmers Adams to the National Geographic society:

"This city of lure terraces up from a glorious bay—the Bay of Guanabara, mountain-encircled, Isle-bejeweled. From the shore, where parks and boulevards are fast crowding out the old Rio of narrow streets, rise the forested hills on whose slopes the lovelier portion of the city lies. Place your hands on the table, fingers spread, wrists upraised. Each finger represents one of Rio's hills; each space between, a canyon up which the city climbs.

"Many of the new homes cling to the hillside below the streets and are entered from the roof. Others of these cliff dwellings perch high above the thoroughfare and are reached by a long flight of steps or by elevator or an inclined plane. Some bear the name of the lady of the manor over the front door—'Villa Rosita,' 'Villa Lucia'—and the dark-eyed lady herself is often seen leaning from the window.

"Can any other city offer such entrancing vistas as those from the mountain heights back of Rio? I have traveled far and have yet to find it. Turning hazyward, we look down through a frame of tangled vines and branches, onto the tree-tops of the sloping virgin forest. A scarlet-winged bird flits to a nearby tree-fern; a big are purple orchids within reach and waken begonias at our feet. Far below, set in verdure, gleams the kaleidoscopic city, with its crescent shores.

"The bay, set in its amphitheater of hills, sparkles like a sapphire. To and fro among the ships at anchor ply the busy paddle-wheel ferry boats to the islands and to Niteroy, the little sister city across the way. In the distance tower the blue spires of the lofty Organ mountains. Today we can see the sharp crag called 'the Finger of God.' Often it is veiled in mist.

"Avenida Rio Branco, Rio's finest thoroughfare, is more than a mile in length and so wide that it consists of two distinct boulevards separated by a row of shade trees. It is thronged day and night with automobiles. The sidewalks, the widest I have ever seen, are black-and-white stones laid in mosaic design, like those in vogue in Lisbon. Both stones and workmen were brought from Portugal, but similar pavements, constructed later in other parts of the city, are 'home-made.'

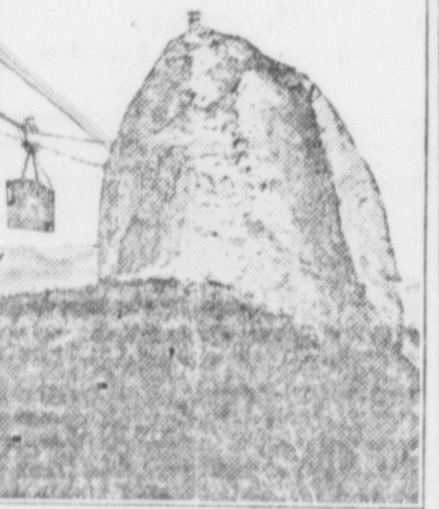

"At the cinema theaters the people of Rio de Janeiro know real comfort. Unlike most of our moving-picture houses, those in Rio have spacious waiting rooms where you sit, listening to excellent music until the hour for the first reel comes round.

"Rio's climate is often maligned, but it suits those who like spring and summer weather. It is never as warm as summer in many of our Eastern and Middle-West cities, and the nights on the hills are nearly always cool.

"Now and then on the wide world trail we find a scene which dominates. Such is Rio de Janeiro, City of Lure. So long as glory of form and color gladden the eye, Rio will stand preeminent in beauty among the habitations of man."

Craze for Orchids. The widespread liking for orchids is evidenced by the fact that a century ago only 300 species were known, and those very imperfectly. Now the latest authority gives the number of known species as 10,000.

Fordson

TRADE MARK

A Fordson Tractor on the farm means more prosperity for the farmer. It doesn't make any difference how you spell that prosperity—whether it is in increased production; whether it is in the saving that comes from a machine over a horse or a mule; whether it comes in a release from the drudgery and all-day and all-night labor on the farm for both man and wife—because the Fordson answers all those problems to the satisfaction of the farmer.

It can't be otherwise. These are the days of progress, and power on the farm is the necessity. It is only a question of what kind of power the farmer is going to have, but no farmer with the facts now before him can question the monetary advantage of machine power over horse and mule-power. The tractor is the farmer's necessity just as much as the sun is the necessity for growing crops.

All that is necessary for a farmer is to know his Fordson Tractor as familiarly as he understands handling a team of horses. He wants to use the same amount of reason and common sense. In the Fordson Tractor is the concentrated power of eighteen horses, and as flexible as the movement of your arm—much more flexible than horse control—and beyond all things that horses and mules cannot do, and it doesn't eat when idle.

We don't believe there's any question in the mind of any farmer as to the necessity for a Tractor, but he may have some doubts as to what make of Tractor, so that is the reason we are putting this advertisement in this paper to draw his attention to the Fordson Tractor. This is why we put the above arguments before him, and why we now invite him to come in to our place of business and view the Fordson Tractor. Let us show him what it has done. Let us prove to him its superiority over any other Tractor. It means more to him than it does to us. When we sell a Tractor, we make a small profit, but when he buys a Tractor he buys a power that is working for him every day in the year; that is, if he buys a Fordson—we can't speak for the other kinds. Come in!
